

AIR Media-Tech is a global company delivering breakthrough tech to skyrocket digital-first creators and brands on YouTube and beyond. The company was founded in 2010 by Ukrainian co-founders Sergii Bielousov and Stepan Mikhaylov.

As a YouTube Certified Service Provider since 2011, AIR offers over 30 services to improve key channel metrics, grow audience, increase revenue, and manage earnings effectively with a suite of advanced fin-tech solutions.

AIR is home to over 3 thousand creators from 44 different countries, including the world's largest YouTubers.

Since early 2022, AIR owns the U.S. media company ScaleLab, known for its past collaborations with Mr. Beast and Jake Paul on early stages of their careers. AIR continues to manage the company and develop the portfolio of its clients increasing their growth potential on digital platforms with AIR's ecosystem of advanced services.

In early 2023, AIR Media-Tech hit one trillion (1,000,000,000,000) views across its network of YouTube partner creators.

AIR is a YouTube recommended vendor for content translation and localization.
